smart project

Our Trust

Sushma Medicinal & Ayurvedic Research Trust (SMART), an educational charitable trust, is duly registered with the Charity Commissioner of Maharashtra. SMART is developing a unique conservation site for children to foster a greater appreciation, awareness and knowledge of the natural environment and our interdependence with it through educational programs and services.

Our Objective

- To impart learning to children about the conservation of ecology, environment and natural resources.
- Make them aware of alternative methods of resource conservation
- Expose them with the usage, growth and conservation of medicinal plants and natural methods of cure in an eco-friendly environment
- Seek to conserve the Earth's living natural heritage, our global biodiversity, and to demonstrate that human societies are able to live harmoniously with nature
- Tolerance and respect for various cultural diversities

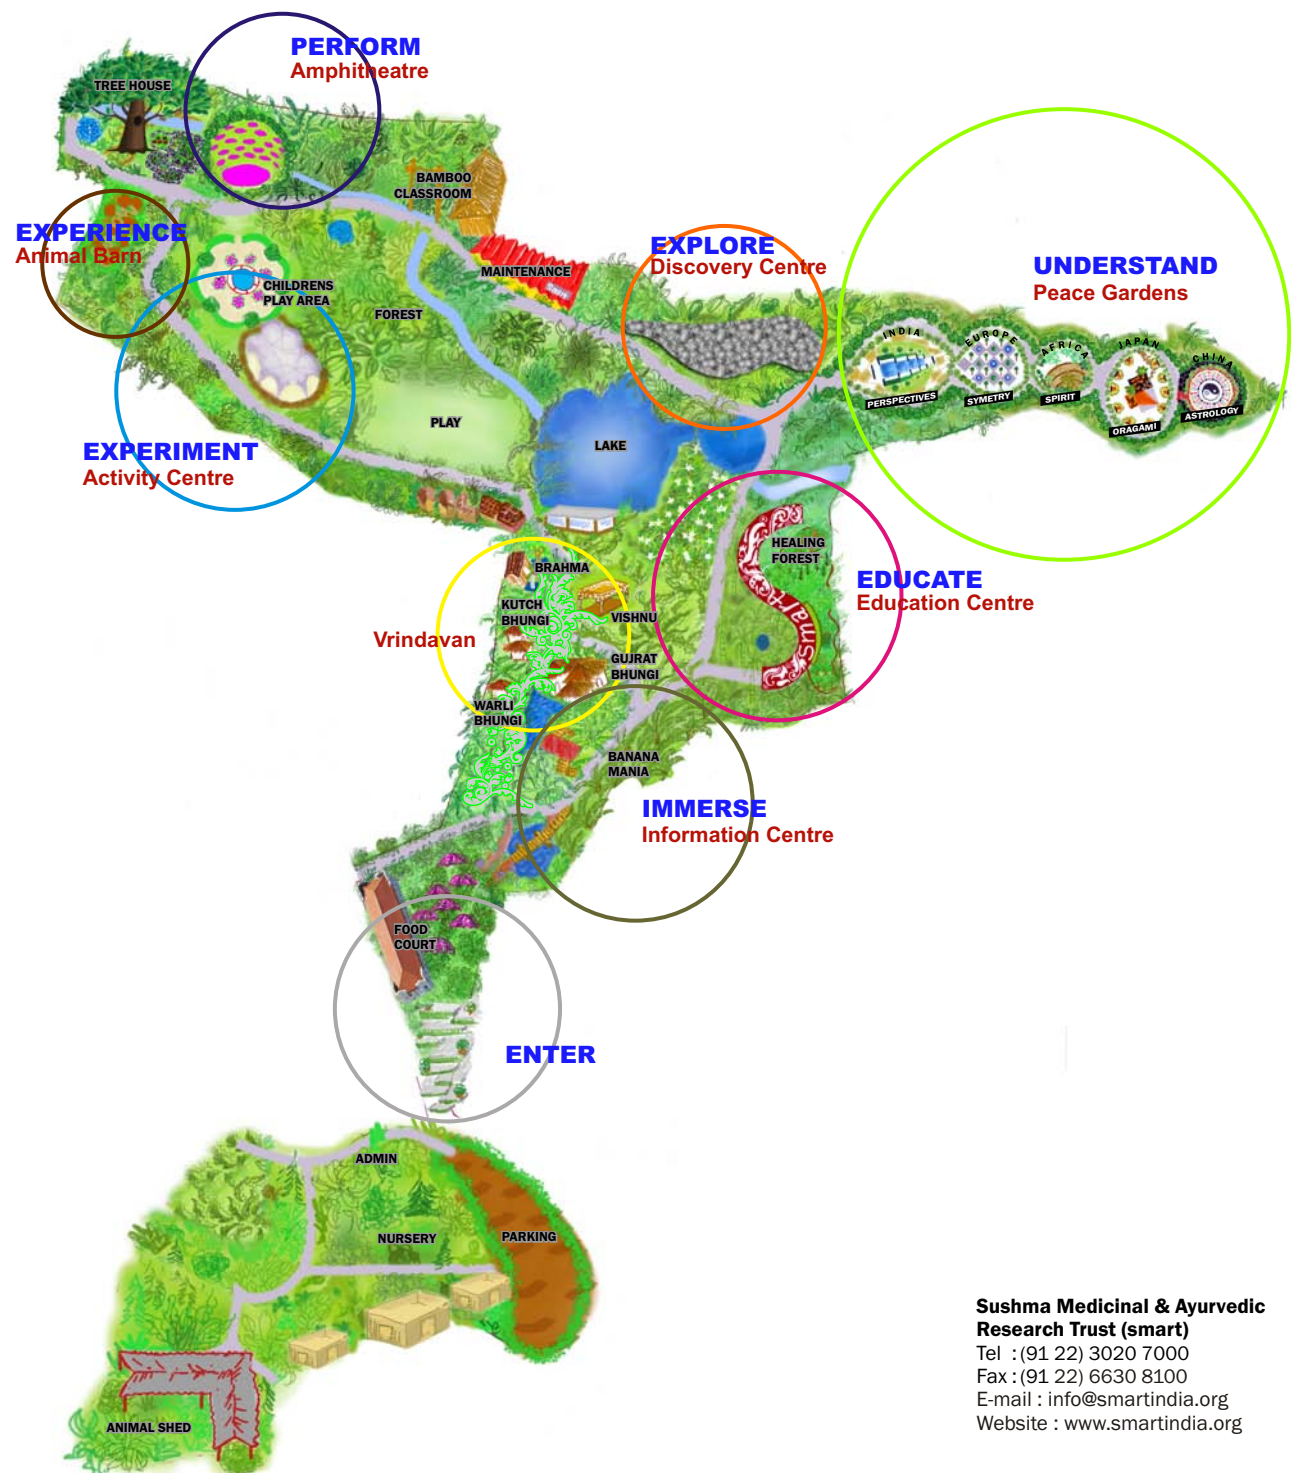

Our Project

Our Ecology Park will be a unique place for children to discover a lasting friendship with the natural world. Our project will mainly respond to the threat of global warming by investing in smart energy solutions. Developing on international standards, it is expected to be operational for children in November 2009 at Panvel near Mumbai.

Our Vision

SMART strives for the development of a stewardship ethic toward the conservation of India's natural, historical and cultural heritage, and the prevention and correction of continued environmental degradation.
